Failure-The Best Teacher

Failure teaches you more than success ever could. It shapes you as a person. It makes you resilient. If we can cultivate a stronger relationship with failure, we can make success that much closer. Failure is actually a pretty magical thing.

Trying and failing have become two of our most important teachers. They can teach us how to walk the path of success. Failure encourages better thinking. It forces us to look back and ask, why didn't that work? What went wrong?

When you try, you learn. When you fail, you learn even more. Keep trying, and keep failing. You will soon become a very educated student of life.

Failure builds you up. It can tear you down. It can make you feel horrible about yourself and about life. It can also build you up in ways you never thought possible if you let it.

It can also help you to trust yourself more when making future decisions and future attempts.

Failure doesn't do any of these things if we don't let it. Learn from it. Allow it to shape you. Grow from it and move on!

Student Life is Golden Life

It is said that "Student life is golden life," because student life is the most important part of human life. It is the period of pure joy and happiness, because the mind of a student is free from cares and worries of a grown-up life. They only need to focus their worries on excelling in academics, making the right friends, building their character, etc.

The primary duty of a student is to learn and to acquire knowledge. Students need to maintain punctuality and discipline. They must not be book-worms being always engaged in studies. They should also take care of health and spend some time daily in some sports and games.

Students must try to develop their intellect. They should also try to acquire some good qualities like obedience, dutifulness, and respect for the elders, love and sympathy for fellow man in the society. The duty of a student is to obey and respect the elders of the society.

Students are the future hope of the country. So every student should try to be the best citizen in all respect, so that a student may serve the country as far as they can.

Motivational Quotes

"Things work out best for those who make the best of the way things work out."
-John Wooden

"Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow. The important thing is not to stop questioning." -Albert Einstein

"Sometimes you can't see yourself clearly until you see yourself through the eyes of others." -Ellen DeGeneres

"The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched. They must be felt with the heart." -Helen Keller

"Success is the ability to go from failure to failure without losing your enthusiasm." -Winston Churchill

Truths of Life

Nobody is real in this world except Mother.

Truth is simple, but, the moment you try to explain it, it becomes difficult.

When you are happy you enjoy the music, but when you are sad, you understand the lyrics.

In life two things define you: Your patience when you have nothing, and your attitude when you have everything....
